Circa 3.6 Acre Roadside Holding with Development Potential

An attractive plot of ground extending to approximately 3.6 acres, benefitting from road frontage along the eastern boundary and services available nearby, including electricity and mains water.

The lands offer excellent potential for the development of a dwelling house (subject to planning permission) or may lend themselves to a tourism-based project such as holiday pods, given the proximity to nearby beaches and surrounding towns.

An existing old stone wall structure remains on the property and may provide a potential footprint for a planning application, subject to the necessary consents.

Grants may be available for qualifying project types, subject to planning approval and relevant criteria.

A substantial roadside holding offering flexibility, location and development potential in a desirable setting.
